

BERNICE HINCHMAN

Educator, North Campus

What inspired you to become an educator?

Substitute teaching at public schools before cosmetology sparked my interest to teach, but it was the Gene Juarez company and educators that inspired me to become an educator.

What do you like most about instructing the next generation of cosmetologists?

I love teaching the next generation of cosmetologists that they are more than stylists behind a chair, but a high level of professionals delivering quality skills and care to anyone they meet.

What is a typical day like in your position?

A typical day in the classroom is filled with constant learning and excitement of what is cosmetology.

What is your fondest memory thus far as an educator?

My fondest memory as an educator is seeing how much the students grow as an individual through the course of their training.

What advice do you like to share with new students and/or those preparing to graduate?

I tell every student that my goal for them is to know as much as I do in cosmetology or more because sharing information helps us grow together as an industry.
