

SABRINA HOFFMANN

Educator, North Campus

What inspired you to become an educator?

I love sharing information and see people develop confidence in something they love.

What do you like most about instructing the next generation of cosmetologists?

I want cosmetologists to be known as professionals instead of the stereotype they've been in the past.

What is a typical day like in your position?

If I'm in the classroom, I'll do theory and practicals and then time is focused on developing beginner skills. On the clinic, I work with students and guests and time is focused on refining skills.

What is your fondest memory thus far as an educator?

Anytime a student thanks me for helping them understand something they were unsure of; I just enjoy the students' confidence.

What advice do you like to share with new students and/or those preparing to graduate?

You can do whatever makes you happy. If you want to highlight hair all day (and only that) there is a salon out there to help you be successful. If you don't make excuses all your dreams can come true.
